CALS ONE READ

Read, converse, debate, and share your thoughts with fellow book lovers from around central Arkansas during this CALS community reading event.

Station Eleven, by Emily St. John Mandel, won multiple awards, including the Arthur C. Clarke Award. Andrew M. Butler of the award's judging committee, noted that "while many post-apocalypse novels focus on the survival of humanity, Station Eleven focuses instead on the survival of our culture."

There will be copies of the book available at discussion-hosting locations. Check at your local branch to learn how to reserve a copy. Patrons who attend a book discussion or participate in the online discussion will be eligible for a prize drawing.
